Subject: Cloning and permissions
Posted by Peter Machell on Mon, 17 Dec 2007 12:40:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

After cloning a Debian host, I found everything working except MySQL.

I had to chown its binaries, databases and log folder back to mysql from root.

Is this normal and should I expect other permissions to have changed?
When copying the VZ does the ownership of files take on whatever matches the UID on the host system?

regards,
Peter.