Subject: OpenVZ vs Linux Vserver
Posted by server1122 on Sun, 01 Jul 2007 23:16:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Tell me what you think of each one.

What you think is better / why openVZ is better

i noticed problems in vserver was iptables was a complete mess up, host has to do it manually .

and any web panels to give my customers so they can control start stop etc .

any other pointers would be cool.

also off topic a little whats better for windows VPS

Microsoft windows virtual server or virtuzzo there windows isolation things.

i think some people are having quite a bit of troubles with the virtuzzo or w/e for windows edition.

any pointers would be good also i hate to offer windows but many people are requesting it.

right now im using linux vserver but i dont think it has much of a future.