Subject: SOLVED fstab mount
Posted by chriscook on Mon, 22 Oct 2007 18:27:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Will / Should an VE read and mount shares out of fstab?

I've resolved all the NFS funnyness and I'm able to "mount -t nfs ..." my shares but entries in fstab seem to be ignored on startup.

I can resolve this quickly just by issuing the mount command in an init script but if fstab should be read I'd like to fix the issue. Any input?

This is a Centos5_64 VE on a Centos5_64 host.