Hi all,

What's the matter with docs.openvz.org? Did you pull the plug on it or did the hamster die? It's been unresponsive for 2-3 weeks.

Some of these days access to the documentation would be kinda useful and a lot of Google search entries for OpenVZ related topics point to the unresponsive docs.openvz.org

Regards,

Michael Stauber

Looks ok here too! Though I'd imagine it's a bit out of date given that OpenVZ 7 / Virtuozzo 7 docs are all here now: https://docs.virtuozzo.com/master/index.html

Perhaps it should be added to the docs page that those docs are for the previous gen vz6 systems and the above link provided for current documentation.

The SSL Certificate has expired.

% curl https://docs.openvz.org curl: (60) SSL certificate problem: unable to get local issuer certificate More details here: https://curl.se/docs/sslcerts.html curl failed to verify the legitimacy of the server and therefore could not establish a secure connection to it. To learn more about this situation and how to fix it, please visit the web page mentioned above.

As far as I understand, certificate troubles on openvz sites was resolved already.
Next time, please report about noticed troubles to bugs.openvz.org, unlike the forum it is checked more or less regularly.

Thank you,
