Hi All,

Thanks for your read! Can I ask one question here ? when I use vzmigrate --online to do the live migration, if I run the ./a.out in the container, during the migration time, whether this ./a.out application in container will be terminated? Based on --online description, this application can not be terminated, but I am not sure, because I found sometimes the application in container would be stopped during the migration.

any help would be appreciated!
Thanks for your time and consideration!
