Subject: How to upgrade OPENVZ
Posted by ricoche on Wed, 27 Aug 2008 23:30:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello,

I did a search and couldn't find anything related to the title, so I thought I would start one.

I currently have an OPENVZ server which I setup about 8 months ago. It has been running fantastic. However, I am now concerned about upgrading key areas such as the kernel and other tools associated with OpenVZ. I'd like to know what I need to do or where I can go to find out how to upgrade my current OpenVZ Kernel and base installation such as vzctl.

yum update openvz

Is this correct?

I'm on a CentOS server.

Thanks!

Subject: Re: How to upgrade OPENVZ
Posted by ricoche on Tue, 02 Sep 2008 02:25:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

After a week of research, I figured out the entire process. Thanks to all those who replied to this post.

Subject: Re: How to upgrade OPENVZ
Posted by keddie on Thu, 05 Mar 2009 10:03:25 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Any chance you could share your research?