First of all thanks and congratulations to SW-Soft for opening a community version of Virtuozzo!

I wondered if there were plans to create VPS migration tools for openvz at all?

I'd be interested in helping put together a howto to do this manually. Presumably this can be done fairly painlessly by setting up two identical hardware nodes (same templates, sample configs, cache etc and copying over the vz private area (via rsync, scp etc..) together with individual VPS config files.
