
Subject: Re: [PATCH 1/2] mm: move common segment checks to separate helper function (v6)

Posted by Christoph Hellwig on Thu, 15 Mar 2007 21:52:33 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Actually thinking about this a little more I don't think we should put this in. Instead this loop should be moved up to fs/read_write.c because these are checks that we want for all filesystems/drivers that use vectored I/O. We'll still need tiny loops to calculate the total I/O length for now in every method, but that will be gone as soon as we have our iodesc/uio/whatever structure.
