Subject: Re: privvmpages failcnt high
Posted by GrrrlRomeo on Tue, 20 Mar 2007 21:40:21 GMT

Yes, I know privvmpages is measured in pages. The reason why I say it's allocated but not actually used is because privvmpages maxes out when I'm only actually using something like 50% of memory. Where 512M may be allocated by applications, only 256M is being used. In other words, something is allocating much more memory than is actually needed.

I have tried hunting for any leaks in my scripts, but didn't find any. But as I didn't actually set the VPS up I don't know what else to look for.