Subject: Re: OVZ Kernels and e1000 nic
Posted by devonblzx on Fri, 23 Mar 2007 19:45:27 GMT

I realize it wasn't the SMP kernel, I just did a fresh install and just installed the regular kernel, the SMP kernel in my last CentOS setup failed to start at all.

I have local access to the box right now, as it is setup at my home  for now.

That command did nothing different for me when i restarted the network, but it did list all the network devices with their mac addresses, they were all listed correctly...