I am interested too in this thread. I have one lvm partition with all my virtual machines. I would like to backup them with backuppc.

It would be a nice thing that I can restore the virtual machine several times in several directories as a sort of "homemade" template. With backuppc is easy to do so.

I would like to be sure to backup the right thing: home or private?

And I suppose I do not need to suspend virtual machines because I backup with snapshots.

Thanks for help and for this interesting thread.

Mario
