
Subject: Re: [ckrm-tech] [PATCH 1/9] Containers (V9): Basic container framework
Posted by Paul Jackson on Thu, 10 May 2007 04:47:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Balbir wrote:

> Thanks for the script. Would you like to contribute this script to > LTP for wider availability and testing?

Sounds good - though I'm a tad lazy, and don't know how to contribute this to the LTP.

You're welcome to contribute it yourself, if that's easier for you, or to point me in the direction of some information on this.

Since it's GPL, you can republish it, under that license.

... Most likely however, it will take a little tweaking to make this test work well for LTP. Most automated test environments have some requirements on the behaviour of each test, and it would be surprising if this test happen already to conform to LTP's requirements.

--

I won't rest till it's the best ...
Programmer, Linux Scalability
Paul Jackson <pj@sgi.com> 1.925.600.0401
