OK, I can't find appropriate posts at the moment either! So I explain the problem once again. The thing is that when you produce mount command on HN (e.g. from 101.mount script), the entry in /etc/mtab on HN appears. Later when VE stops all mount points in VE are umounted automatically even _without_ umount script. But the entry in /etc/mtab is still there! It makes mount a bit crazy...

So, you should use `mount -n` in mount script and don't use umount script at all.

HTH,
Vasily.
