Subject: Re: The issues for agreeing on a virtualization/namespaces implementation.
Posted by serue on Wed, 08 Feb 2006 15:17:26 GMT

Quoting Hubertus Franke (frankeh@watson.ibm.com):
> Eric W. Biederman wrote:
> So it seems the clone(flags) is a reasonable approach to create new > namespaces. Question is what is the initial state of each namespace?
> In pidspace we know we should be creating an empty pidmap !
> In network, someone suggested creating a loopback device
> In uts, create "localhost"
> Are there examples where we rather inherit ? Filesystem ?

Of course filesystem is already implemented, and does inheret a full copy.

-serge