I just got an idea -- what about organizing a one-day "containers mini-summit" just before the Kernel Summit? We can all meet face to face, discuss all the issues and come out with a good plan for KS talk. That does not mean we shouldn't discuss it here, of course -- it's just to make it "polished".

I guess organizers of LinuxConf Europe (which takes place just before the KS) will have a facility (i.e. a room) for us.

What do you think?
