Subject: Re: IPCop template
Posted by ugob on Thu, 02 Aug 2007 18:42:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I think it may not be worth the effort. IpCop, as a firewall, would be better installed by itself, unless you are testing, as the default VE in OpenVZ uses venet, which is a virtual interface, maybe veth would let you get something close but what you want, but I'm not sure.

http://wiki.openvz.org/Virtual_Ethernet_device http://wiki.openvz.org/Differences_between_venet_and_veth