
Subject: Re: GUIs from a VPS

Posted by locutius on Mon, 20 Aug 2007 20:39:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

you are one of the lucky ones, nx has a history with a reputation for being quirky and without much clear documentation but with many many frustrated topics on boards everywhere. frequently it was broken by a routine library update and it would be months before it was working again

also the no-machine version works differently from the freenx version, is way more complicated to set up with nodes and everything

6 months ago they appeared to get on top of the issues and things stabilized. my personal favorite server for mahjong is a x86_64 box, 64_bit remote mahjong was unheard of until very recently

ON TOPIC: log a bug, dude
