

---

Subject: Re: Linux 2.6.19 VServer 2.1.x
Posted by Cedric Le Goater on Fri, 01 Dec 2006 11:12:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Great !

I'm dreaming that the next patchsets will not require as much debate. nah, stop dreaming Cedric :)

Thanks to Andrew and Linus who made it happen.

C.

Kirill Korotaev wrote:

> OpenVZ has been using them for more than a month already ;-)
>
> Kirill
>
>> Ladies and Gentlemen!
>>
>> here is the first Linux-VServer version (testing) >> with support for the *spaces (uts, ipc and vfs) >> introduced in 2.6.19 ...
>>
>> <http://vserver.13thfloor.at/Experimental/patch-2.6.19-vs2.1.x-t1.diff>
>>
>> it might not be as perfect as the kernel itself *G*
>> but it does work fine here, and with recent tools
>> most virtualization features work as expected
>>
>> please if you do testing, report issues or comments >> to the Linux-VServer mailing list or to me directly >> (at least CC would be fine) and do not bother the >> nice kernel folks ...
>>
>> enjoy,
>> Herbert

---

Containers mailing list
Containers@lists.osdl.org
<https://lists.osdl.org/mailman/listinfo/containers>

---