

---

Subject: Re: [PATCH 0/59] Cleanup sysctl
Posted by hpa on Tue, 16 Jan 2007 19:15:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Eric W. Biederman wrote:

>>
>> Agreed. *Furthermore*, if the number isn't in <linux/sysctl.h> it shouldn't >> exist anywhere else, either.
>
> That would be a good habit. Feel free to send the patches to ensure that > is so.
>
> I'm a practical fix it when it is in my way kind of guy ;)

That's fine. However, I am wondering if there are things in <linux/sysctl.h> which really doesn't need architectural numbers, i.e.
which should be removed from the binary interface.

-hpa

---

Containers mailing list
Containers@lists.osdl.org
<https://lists.osdl.org/mailman/listinfo/containers>

---