A 'fixed' version of vzctl is not released yet.

Sure, there is no need, that vzctl has to work with broken baselayout-vserver-versions, but there is a need of displaying a message, if the user of an gentoo-template has fixed this error with adding dev venet0 to network-configuration.

So, if there are users using gentoo in OpenVZ in a productive environment (as I do) they should get informed, I think.
