Subject: Re: bandwidth Vps Limited
Posted by kir on Sun, 12 Mar 2006 21:06:01 GMT

vzctl have no such ability, and it should not.

You have to use iptables accounting rules for the given VPS IP and some shell script run from cron which should check how much traffic is already taken, and block the traffic if the amount exceeds predefined value.

In short, that requires some programming skills. A neighbour sysadmin should know how to implement it.