Hi Paul.

Well, not too close i'm afraid. It still doesn't support the online migration and there still some known problems with netfilters. Probably netfilters will be fixed quite soon, but can't say anything about the online migration.

From my point of view if you are going just to play with OpenVZ and won't set it in production and don't need the online migration - you can stay with 2.6.22, otherwise i suppose it's better to keep trying to backport the required forcedeth patches to 2.6.18 branch.
