Subject: Backup Strategy for Multiple VEs

I'm wondering if any of you have thoughts on doing daily backups of individual VEs.

Currently we have a set of scripts that will back up an entire machine to a backup server, but I'm not sure if replicating that into each VE will work, because each backup would only "see" what the VE sees.

I'm hesitant to use full-system backups on the HN because that would take hours to recover a single file for a single VE.

Any ideas? What are other people using? We will have about 150 VEs across several machines all backing up to a network backup server.
