cat /etc/resolv.conf

i recommend you change the config files of the VPS so it uses that values automaticaly. The config files are inside: /etc/sysconfig/vz-scripts and the entry is call: NAMESERVER=\"10.0.80.11\" You can changed + add whatever nameserver you want, then you need to restart the vz so the effect to change. After this is done, it will for ever use the correct info, and you will not need to change them ever again.
