Hi folks,

by an recent post @users list I learned, I'm not the only one who likes to catch the console at VE bootup. There are several ways to work around (within the VE), but this actually doesn't **solve** the problem.

No I'd like to request an feature for catching the console. IMHO, it's enough to have an option to vzctl start, which tells it to not to detach and bring the VE's console to the current tty.

How could this be done ?
