Julian,

in general it is fine. Some comments:

1. changing existing /proc output is bad usually as can break existing users. better create a separate proc file for such things. On the other hand, if you know what you are doing... ))
2. such approach doesn't account traffic through network devices delegated to VPS.
3. on VPS restart counters are reset, so malicious user can use it somehow, if values are read quite rarely. maybe it is not a problem for many people though.

Thanks!
