Subject: Re: Memory Management again
Posted by vaverin on Tue, 08 Jan 2008 06:49:35 GMT

http://wiki.openvz.org/Privvmpages#privvmpages:
"There should be a safety gap between the barrier and the limit for privvmpages parameter to reduce the number of memory allocation failures that the application is unable to handle. This gap will be used for "high-priority" memory allocations, such as process stack expansion.
Normal priority allocations will fail when the barrier if privvmpages is reached."