
Subject: Re: Linux Newbie and help with install
Posted by ugob on Thu, 17 Jan 2008 21:54:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you don't plan on running linux, you're probably better to stick with VMware. You can only run specific linux distributions in a VE in OpenVZ. OpenVZ is very good and has very low overhead, but you must know linux and it cannot run anything like vmware.
