lksctp-tools is a set of utils to support SCPT protocol (a recently new protocol). You probably do not want it. If you do not know -- then you do not want it.

We will look into the conflict -- probably the package requires something from the kernel (SCTP support?), well, from the rpm package, which OpenVZ kernel package misses. Indeed, we do not support SCTP.

Speaking of apache problem, it requires a separate investigation. Probably it is NFS -- can you (temporary) try it with local files?
