Subject: Re: eth0 dies when using openVZ kernel.
Posted by den on Tue, 04 Mar 2008 08:04:25 GMT

ARP resolution does not work for the case.

Could you check with tcpdump that there is an outgoing ARP request?
    tcpdump -ni eth0 arp
If you see the request and do not see a reply, then you should check that your router really send the reply packet, it is best to be done in the similar way from the other host in the network.