Do you only want to sell, and let someone else manage the infrastructure for you? The OpenVZ devs stay busy with their commercial product. I doubt they have time to run a business for you.

Maybe you should find someone who's already managing OpenVZ servers, and partner with them.

I like http://vpsville.ca/