Subject: Re: domain names / virtual machines
Posted by mlowrie on Mon, 19 May 2008 23:58:53 GMT

Hi,

I'm interesting in doing something similar in that each domain would be hosted on a separate VE node with one node being the master node that directs the request to the appropriate VE. This is due to only having a single puplic IP available for the multiple domains I host.

Have you had any success implementing this? I'm hoping someone has this working before I attempt it. Did you use the suggested proxying software or something else?

Thanks for the help.
Mike