Subject: Install problem: 'vz' is not a valid service name Posted by keith on Thu, 29 May 2008 15:31:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello everyone,

The problem:

After following the quick install instructions on the wiki I can't start the vz service.

I type /sbin/service vz start and I get the error :

'vz' is not a valid service name

Is this the same thing as running /etc/rc.d/init.d/vz start This works fine and I get the message Starting OpenVZ: [OK]

Does anyone know why I get the error message?

Does it make any difference between /sbin/service vz start

and
/etc/rc.d/init.d/vz start

???

Any suggestions welcome.