Posted by keith on Thu, 29 May 2008 15:31:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello everyone,

The problem :
After following the quick install instructions on the wiki I can't start the vz service.
I type   /sbin/service vz start and I get the error :
'vz' is not a valid service name

Is this the same thing as running /etc/rc.d/init.d/vz start This works fine and I get the message
Starting OpenVZ: [OK]

Does anyone know why I get the error message ?
Does it make any difference between /sbin/service vz start and
   /etc/rc.d/init.d/vz start

???
Any suggestions welcome.