
Subject: Re: Re: openvz: pull request (sync with 2.6.24-ovz005)

Posted by Alexey Dobriyan on Tue, 03 Jun 2008 10:42:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Tuesday 03 June 2008 03:36:00 Kir Kolyskin wrote:

```
> > patching file arch/ia64/kernel/sys_ia64.c
> > Reversed (or previously applied) patch detected! Assume -R? [n] n
> > Apply anyway? [n] n
> > Skipping patch.
> > 1 out of 1 hunk ignored -- saving rejects to file
> > arch/ia64/kernel/sys_ia64.c.rej > > patching file mm/mmap.c
> > Reversed (or previously applied) patch detected! Assume -R? [n] n
> > Apply anyway? [n] n
> > Skipping patch.
> > 1 out of 1 hunk ignored -- saving rejects to file mm/mmap.c.rej > > make: ***
> > [/home/rtg/hardy/kern/ubuntu-hardy/debian/stamps/stamp-custom-prepare-openvz]
> > Error 1
> >
> > You can test the prepare phase of the build without having to do all of > > the other flavours by using:
> >
> > fakeroot debian/rules custom-prepare-openvz
> >
> > rtg
> >
> Tim,
>
> I guess this is what Alexey meant by his message above. AFAICS he asked > you to remove the patch named > debian/binary-custom.d/openvz/patchset/0050-ubuntu-make-mmap-POSIX-conform.patch > as he already has it in his tree.
```

Nevermind, I'll redo on top of current Ubuntu tree since some more serious crashes were fixed meanwhile.
