Subject: Re: Ubuntu 7.10 & 8.04 fail to reboot or shutdown
Posted by maratrus on Wed, 04 Jun 2008 09:25:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I haven't still understand you.
Let's assume you have typed "reboot" on your HN. How do you know that Quote:
only the VE with the highest numeric ID is stopped.

Quote:
Issuing a "vzlist --all" tells me that SAMBA is unmounted, while LAMP is running.

In what moment do you execute that commands? After reboot?
Sorry for my stupidity but I really cannot catch you. Thank You for the patient.