
Subject: Re: can only ping locally - not network
Posted by john32 on Fri, 04 Jul 2008 20:57:09 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I tried both eth3 (active lan, I think that's the one you meant), and eth0 just to be safe. Neither changed any behavior, and I don't see any trace of anything different in this either:

```
ip neigh show
XX.XX.X.65 dev eth3 lladdr xx:xx:xx:xx:xx:xx DELAY
```

So basically the host is not routing the traffic to the venet0 interface properly, is that right?
