Subject: OpenVZ/Virtuozzo - SOLVED

As luck would have it, I have a prospective customer who is already running virtuozzo. I use OpenVZ and I'd like to ship up an OpenVZ instance to my customer to be run under Virtuozzo.

I know how I'd do it with OpenVZ, but haven't a clue with Virtuozzo.

My base instance is Gentoo, as are my ve's. I recognise I'll have to ship my portage tree aswell, but my questions are:-

Will Virtuozzo be happy with an OpenVz image I have bz2 tarred up and scp'ed over, once un-archived .

Is there anything special I/the customer will have to do to get up and running?

I have had a quick shufti to see if this question has already been asked, if it has then please point me at the thread.

Best regards, Paul.
