

---

Subject: Re: "vzctl stop" is taking too much time when called from a setuid binary
Posted by RapidVPS on Wed, 24 May 2006 00:59:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

if you strace the program when you run it, you should be able to see what calls the program is waiting on. ie..

```
strace -ff vzctl2 stop 1234
```

it will display a ton of text, then it should stop for a while or loop. send us that text and we may be able to help..

Rick

---