
Subject: Re: Understanding OpenVZ Linux
Posted by locutius on Wed, 22 Oct 2008 13:42:09 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message get yourself a box and install centos 5 and jump in there are two schools, the command line gurus and the gui cheats use the gnome gui to control your box until you learn the command line if you need to control a remote server then use nx for a remote desktop until your command line skills are proficient linux command language is like old dos but much richer, it is lovely. google bash commands for a clue just jump in, you will love it and never use a windows server again
