See, this is why I asked you about it in the first place. The problem is not OpenVZ-specific.

I do want to help but I don't know the details of how grubby works. I recommend you to ask on some CentOS forum (and maybe post the solution here).