fwiw, I figured it out with help from irc:

/dev/urandom had somehow been turned into a file instead of a proper device file. I thought I had already checked that, but I must have been in the wrong VE. Once /dev/urandom had been recreated properly, everything worked just fine.