Subject: Slackware 10.2 precreated template cache
Posted by scythe on Tue, 06 Jun 2006 13:56:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,

I have created a minimal template cache from Slackware 10.2.

You can download it from http://homaly.dunanet.hu/wvz/slackware/
It's just 27 megs.

For the OpenVZ dev guys:
Because the current hosting site has limited bandwidth, I would be greatful if you could serve this file from openvz.org (http://openvz.org/download/template/cache/ i guess).

Creating it was easy, I just copied a running host's root directory into a private area then followed kir's howto on debian template cache creation.