I wouldn't recommend doing the tests on a production server. A virtual machine such as VirtualBox should be just fine for testing...

Have you seen this thread: http://forum.openvz.org/index.php?t=msg&th=7359&star t=0?

In short, it can be done on CentOS 5.3 but I didn't have time for further tests yet (networking, stability, etc.). Please post your findings if you try it out.
