I am still on this problem, here are some things I have tried:

please keep in mind that this is not an unstable but more that unstable workaround.

So I have tried to provide the /dev/tty0 device with the command

Looks strange for me. Could you please remove tty* devices inside VE? And then invoke again

vzctl set VEID --devnodes /dev/tty:rw
