Is there a way to remotely restart a VPS server which runs on openvz?

We have several servers running openvz, on these servers run several VPS servers.

I am looking for a way to remotely restart from our website (customer page) the VPS which belogs to that customer.

I am NOT looking for a controle panel on the server itself but a way to remotely login and restart, this commando will be given by our webserver on which we use a customer panel.

Who can advise?
