Does something like "exec vzctl enter $VEID" suit you?

Hi maratrus,

I really need it to be in a web-based console (i.e a Java console). I can get a java ssh client setup no problem. But its the logging people in via the main node, so they can get in even if ssh is down that I cant do.

Obviously its possible as its done in loads of control panels, however I cant find anything that would allow you to do this :/
