
Subject: Re: Ubuntu dapper template, or upgrading debian stable to ubuntu
Posted by Vasily Tarasov on Sun, 11 Jun 2006 09:41:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote: Will there ever be an ubuntu template? Im just wondering, because its like debian but has some better up to date packages

Well, one of the principles of community is that if some person needs something (template in our case) and there is no such thing at the moment, the person can do this thing and then share with others!

For example recently Scythe has created Slackware template and now you can get it from openvz.org!

Thus concerning your question, "will ever be an ubuntu template": it will, if somebody will create it. May be you?

It isn't very difficult to create template.

Here are some articles:

<http://wiki.openvz.org/Category:Templates>

Quote: ... is it possible for a user who has a vps to upgrade debian stable to ubuntu dapper by just changin repositories and a dist-upgrade? Is it recommended?

It's possible, but I'm afraid can be tricky to get upgraded vps to work due to differences between Debian and Ubuntu, about which openvz scripts are not aware...
