Subject: Re: Multiple /24's on a host and containers
Posted by tomp on Fri, 28 Aug 2009 12:59:27 GMT

Hi,

As i understand it, using venet, the host machine acts a router using /32 routing.

This means that as long as both subnets are correctly routed to the segment that the host machine is sitting in, the VPSs can use any mixture of IPs from either subnet.