

---

Subject: Question about vzdump restore

Posted by plight on Fri, 28 Aug 2009 21:27:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hi there! Been using openvz for a few months now and I just did a restore test to a vanilla box using proxmox.

I installed proxmox, copied over the vzdumped container, and restored using --restore. I was able to start the container and it worked like a champ.

The thing I am curious about is templates. On the original box, the container was set to a centos template. However, the template is not on the new machine.

How does the this container work if the associated template is not installed?

Thanks in advance.

---